ALMOST FAINTED IN THE STREET

In Daily Fight of Death—Until "Fruit-A-tive" Brought Relief.

CHICAGO, Oct. 4, April 1913.

"Some two years ago, I was a great sufferer from indigestion. One day my eye caught a billboard of 'Fruit-A-tive' and I said to myself 'If that is good enough for me, it is good enough for me.' I bought a box of 'Fruit-A-tive' and took three tablets for only three weeks. I found myself wonderfully improved. In a short time longer, I cured myself entirely. My case was a light one, either, but would often form a very stomach and I was in daily fear that it would get around my heart and kill me. 'Fruit-A-tive' is the only remedy for indigestion'.

C. T. HILL, box, a box, for $1.50, trial size 50c.

Editorial:
 The death of C.H. Olin reveals one of the best-known and very popular members of the provincial legislature.

Editorial:
 Alderman Clarke's attempt to get the commissioner in control of the police department on the lip is a timely reminder to the taxpayer that he had better keep an eye on that corner of the municipality.

Editorial:
 A reader calls attention to the fact that section 98 of the Bank Act prohibits banks charging discount on cheques issued by the Dominion Government. It is to be presumed, therefore, that the case cited in these columns a day or so ago was due to failure on the part of a clerk to understand the law, and that the party concerned—and any others who have been similarly treated—may recover the discount by applying at the bank.

Editorial:
 The activities of Mr. Paul Crath in organizing the "Association of Independent Ukrainians" has been the subject of previous publication in the Bulletin. The translation of a manifesto circulated among the Ruthenian people of the city, which has now also been published, seems to make clear what the object of this movement is. The manifesto urges people of this race in Canada to organize themselves into clubs, in preparation for taking a hand in a projected rebellion of the Ruthenian people in Europe against the Russian government. It is a reasonable surmise that in promoting this propaganda Mr. Crath is an agent of the Austrian province, largely peopled by Ruthenians having been overrun by Russian troops and annexed by Russia. However, that be, his campaign is avowedly aimed at starting or aiding an insurrection in a country which is in alliance with Great Britain, and for that reason should not be allowed to proceed. Another good reason to the same effect is that if allowed to proceed it is quite likely to make trouble in Canada, whether it does or not in Russia. The business should be put a stop to.

Editorial:
 A license to shoot game birds costs $2.25. That practically puts legalized shooting beyond the reach of the man who has more idle time than he wants and less money than he needs, and reserves it as a pastime for his more well-to-do neighbors. That is not by any means a good arrangement. There are many families in Edmonton whose tables would be better supplied if the idle husbands were allowed to go out and put a few of the chickens and partridges which are sold to the public. It is to be supposed that, legal shooting being expensive, a good deal of unutilized shooting is being done. That is

Editorial:
 German papers are pointing out that the translation of the German forces from France would not mean defeat, but only an incidental ebb in the tide of battle. That looks much like a reassuring way of saying that a requirement should not be unexpected. It at least indicates that the German newspapers are not just as sure as they were that the invaders can "hack their way through" to Paris. That is a startling and noteworthy change of mind.

Editorial:
 According to the Board of Trade in London, German cruisers sank eighteen steamers during September, their aggregate tonnage being 29,581. The loss to British shipping is, of course, undeniable, though as the ships were sunk it represents no gain whatever to the enemy. The loss is offset many times by the German and Austrian ships captured, and these represent not only a loss to the enemy but an accession of strength to Britain. As far as the mercantile marine is concerned the war is going quite as satisfactorily as could be hoped—thanks to the "tin pots" which patrol the seven seas.

Editorial:
 Two of the signers of the manifesto to the Ukrainian people complain that the translation of this circular published in the Bulletin yesterday was erroneous in several particulars. In fairness to them the alterations they wish to make are published in another column, that the reader may form his own opinion as to the merits and propriety of the movement. Canada is Canada, and those who become Canadian citizens are expected to limit their activities to Canada and to Canada's place and duty in the British Empire. Whether the Ukraine is to be a republic, or a province of Russia, or of Austria is none of Canada's business, and whoever tries to carry on in Canada a propaganda for settling the political status of the Ukraine is making trouble for Canada—and therefore for himself.

Editorial:
 The ratepayer may get a useful "clout" on the condition of civil finances by reading attentively the letter from the city's banker to the council. The new three-million-dollar loan has been negotiated, on what terms is not stated. As security for it the city hypothecates four million dollars' worth of debentures. The city will not, of course, get the three millions in real money. All but $50,000 will be swallowed up in covering the present indebtedness to the bank. Specific assurance is asked that this half million will be used to pay maturing debenture charges and wages, and that no new expenditures will be made from it. The treasury bills maturing in February, amounting to a half million dollars, need not be provided for at once, providing the council will agree to hold a sufficient sum from the tax levy to meet the notes when due. It is observable that the bank is not prepared to trust the administration to either husband the surplus of the loan or to make provision for the treasury notes, but calls for assurance on both counts. The bank is wise.

The Dominion Government has not yet started work on that retaining wall.

The manifesto urges people of this race in Canada to organize themselves into clubs, in preparation for taking a hand in a projected rebellion of the Ruthenian people in Europe against the Russian government. It is a reasonable surmise that in promoting this propaganda Mr. Crath is an agent of the Austrian province, largely peopled by Ruthenians having been overrun by Russian troops and annexed by Russia. However, that be, his campaign is avowedly aimed at starting or aiding an insurrection in a country which is in alliance with Great Britain, and for that reason should not be allowed to proceed. Another good reason to the same effect is that if allowed to proceed it is quite likely to make trouble in Canada, whether it does or not in Russia. The business should be put a stop to.

A license to shoot game birds costs $2.25. That practically puts legalized shooting beyond the reach of the man who has more idle time than he wants and less money than he needs, and reserves it as a pastime for his more well-to-do neighbors. That is not by any means a good arrangement. There are many families in Edmonton whose tables would be better supplied if the idle husbands were allowed to go out and put a few of the chickens and partridges which are sold to the public. It is to be supposed that, legal shooting being expensive, a good deal of unutilized shooting is being done. That is

German papers are pointing out that the translation of the German forces from France would not mean defeat, but only an incidental ebb in the tide of battle. That looks much like a reassuring way of saying that a requirement should not be unexpected. It at least indicates that the German newspapers are not just as sure as they were that the invaders can "hack their way through" to Paris. That is a startling and noteworthy change of mind.

According to the Board of Trade in London, German cruisers sank eighteen steamers during September, their aggregate tonnage being 29,581. The loss to British shipping is, of course, undeniable, though as the ships were sunk it represents no gain whatever to the enemy. The loss is offset many times by the German and Austrian ships captured, and these represent not only a loss to the enemy but an accession of strength to Britain. As far as the mercantile marine is concerned the war is going quite as satisfactorily as could be hoped—thanks to the "tin pots" which patrol the seven seas.

Two of the signers of the manifesto to the Ukrainian people complain that the translation of this circular published in the Bulletin yesterday was erroneous in several particulars. In fairness to them the alterations they wish to make are published in another column, that the reader may form his own opinion as to the merits and propriety of the movement. Canada is Canada, and those who become Canadian citizens are expected to limit their activities to Canada and to Canada's place and duty in the British Empire. Whether the Ukraine is to be a republic, or a province of Russia, or of Austria is none of Canada's business, and whoever tries to carry on in Canada a propaganda for settling the political status of the Ukraine is making trouble for Canada—and therefore for himself.

The ratepayer may get a useful "clout" on the condition of civil finances by reading attentively the letter from the city's banker to the council. The new three-million-dollar loan has been negotiated, on what terms is not stated. As security for it the city hypothecates four million dollars' worth of debentures. The city will not, of course, get the three millions in real money. All but $50,000 will be swallowed up in covering the present indebtedness to the bank. Specific assurance is asked that this half million will be used to pay maturing debenture charges and wages, and that no new expenditures will be made from it. The treasury bills maturing in February, amounting to a half million dollars, need not be provided for at once, providing the council will agree to hold a sufficient sum from the tax levy to meet the notes when due. It is observable that the bank is not prepared to trust the administration to either husband the surplus of the loan or to make provision for the treasury notes, but calls for assurance on both counts. The bank is wise.

not at all desirable, for it breeds defiance of law. It is, of course, desirable to protect game. But a high license fee in hard times will not protect it. The rich man is the great game destroyer, and the fee does not keep him from shooting. Neither, probably, will it keep the poor man from shooting, though he may have to be a law-breaker to do it. It would be better in all respects to reduce the fee in view of the unfavorable conditions—and then round up those who either shoot without a license or shoot more than the law allows.

TRAMWAY SERVICE.
 Editor Bulletin—May I be permitted to venture a grievance of residents in Edmonton? We had a re-franchisement of service here a week ago, the principal change being that relief cars at rush hours would be run by the city.

This involves a large number of daily crossings for north of Twelfth street rather worse than before. A great many of these, traveling by Albany street have to stand the greater part of the morning, as the relief cars always seem to have vacant seats. The passengers on the Albany street cars must be instructed to reserve seats for those who are coming from Twelfth street. This would be a great relief to the passengers who are only going to Twelfth street and will not cross a transfer, but will not now stand as long as Albany street. If the management could see that this was a device, service they might make a bit from the north and south departments and a minimum charge and on lower fares. I have not heard of a relief car on the tramways. How could it be expected to have in it people, but they would have as much room on their side as the department mentioned. How much that I leave to your readers—I am, etc., Albany Ave., October 4, 1914.

DENY CORRECTNESS.
 Editor Bulletin—The translation of the manifesto of the Ukrainian people, the executive committee of the society "Independent Ukrainians," dated the article printed in the Bulletin under the title "Ukrainian Type Formations of Russia in Canada," for its incorrect translation of the manifesto, and representing falsely the society before the English speaking public in Canada and elsewhere. Therefore we deny it.

1. That there is nothing said about "our great mother Austria" and about its assistance.

2. That there is nothing said about "Ukrainian Type Formations of Russia in Canada."

3. It is not true that the object of the manifesto is "to give moral and material assistance on behalf of Austria against Russia."

It seems that the whole translation printed in the Morning Bulletin on 29th of August, has the object of inciting the Ukrainian people and Canadian Ukrainians. Your truly, M. HEDERAY.

TWO CATALY GARAGES.
 Collapse under snow. Calgary, Oct. 5.—By the falling in of the roof of a two-story garage, this morning through the weight of snow, thirty automobiles were smothered in debris and damage to cars and buildings is estimated to be $25,000. No one was injured, though one man was seen on one of the roofs had narrow escape.

"I believe the Canadian apple to be the finest in the world."
 Sir Geo. E. Foster

Canadians! Enjoy Canada's National Fruit

Never before have you had the opportunity to enjoy the best Canadian Apples. Europe bid so high for the cream of our crop that Canadians have had to be content with "seconds" and inferior imported fruit.

Now that the war prevents Europe from getting our choicest apples, this Department is suggesting to the apple growers of Canada that they market their choicest product here in Canada—where it belongs. Now you may enjoy the great, luscious, ruddy-cheeked prize-winners of apple-dom on your table every day—fruit which in the past has graced the tables of Europe's nobility.

The crisp, sharp flavor and luscious sweetness of Canada's apples are enjoyed by thousands of people every day. The health-giving qualities of this fruit have earned the favor of physicians the world over—and now we can reach real luxury of enjoyment with economy. For this year's crop is abundant—and especially fine.

Join the Apple Consumers' League. Members receive a box of the finest apples every day. Let the children have as many as they want. Healthful, appealing and a splendid preventative of children's digestive troubles.

Keep them at the office—once before luncheon and dinner is a far better appetizer than any cocktail.

Serve them often—in any of the 269 ways they can be prepared.
